“ You will be missed my long time friend. We share the same name and were born one day apart. We lost touch after High School yet I thought of you often over the years especially when traveling through Berkshire Village passing the pond where we used to hang out! I was happy to connect with you when you sent me a text on FB. It was great to catch up! You and your family played a big part in my younger years. That age when you are preteen then teenagers. While I have many stories I could tell I can sum up our relationship in these words...

1.) Our Parents- never a match to how stubborn we were.

2.) We- never listened to good advise because of course we weren't afraid to push the boundaries that any adult might have tried to set for us.

We thought we knew everything...every parents nightmare! 🤖👧♀ Somehow we survived the teenage years. Thank you for showing me that it was okay to "Think outside the box!" Rest in peace now, I shall never forget our crazy adventures...

To Lisa's family: I will keep all of you in my thoughts and prayers. Loss is a fact of life, we all suffer through it, but it doesn't make it any easier for those left behind. I hope you will eventually be able to think of her with a smile.
