“ Last year Scott and I worked together daily through the summer and fall clearing lots. He was a genius felling trees, using his chain saw, and repairing his tractor and equipment.
I would supply water, homemade pesto and bread, he fresh eggs. During breaks we would chat. His sense of humor and optimism were ever present.
I feel as if I lost a unique, special and kindred spirit. even though I knew him for a short time.
He loved logging and hard work despite his health issues. I will miss his steadfastness, work ethic, honesty, geneality and laughter.
